

The NOAA Climate and Fisheries Adaptation \(CAFA\) Program is now accepting full proposals for the FY23 Funding Opportunity. The deadline for submitting a proposal is November 21st, 2022 by 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time. The CAFA Program is soliciting proposals to address either of two research topics:

- Type A Proposals: Advancing multidisciplinary systems to evaluate strategies that promote resilience and adaptation of fish stocks, fisheries, and fishing communities.

- Type B Proposals: Enhancing the effectiveness of locally determined adaptation planning in frontline fishing communities.

Full proposals must be submitted via grants.gov or received by mail by 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time on November 21st, 2022. Please see the full announcement for complete instructions on the required components of a proposal and how to submit one. Frequently asked questions about the CAFA funding opportunity can be found here.

Additionally, CAFA is hosting a proposal information session via webinar on October 18, 2022 from 2:00-3:00 p.m. Eastern Time; please register here. The session will be recorded and shared on the CAFA website. Additional information about this FY23 competition can be found on the CPO FY23 competition website.
